

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

5 A method of parsing data messages incrementally includes executing an initial parse of an incoming data packet and determining whether additional parsing is required or requested. An additional parse is selectively executed only if required by the data message recipient. Additionally, a system and a protocol stack employing a method of incremental parsing are disclosed.